The aim of the Australian Colloquium of Superannuation Researchers is to provide a forum for superannuation and retirement income experts from academia, the public sector and the superannuation and wealth management industry to meet, discuss and present their research.

Colloquium Program
The first day of the 2008 colloquium (Thursday 3rd July) will comprise invited and contributed papers on issues associated with Risks in Superannuation and Pension Funds while the second day (Friday 4th July) is for contributed papers on wider issues relating to superannuation and pensions.

A draft program will be available on the 2008 colloquium website www.cps.unsw.edu.au closer to the colloquium dates.

Call for Papers
Contributed papers are invited from superannuation or pension researchers in academia, the public sector and the superannuation (pensions) industry. Papers on issues associated with Risks in Superannuation and Pension Funds, as well as superannuation and retirement incomes more generally, will be welcomed.

If you would like to discuss a possible presentation, contact the conference convenor Associate Professor John Evans by email on john.evans@unsw.edu.au or by phone on +61 414 643 658. Abstracts of proposed papers should be received by Associate Professor John Evans, no later than Wednesday 30th April 2008.

Papers should be no more than 30 pages in length (A4, double-spaced) and must be received by the conference organiser no later than Friday 13th June 2008. Powerpoint presentations should be received by the conference organiser no later than Monday 30th June 2008.

Deadline for submission of paper abstract: Wednesday 30th April 2008
Deadline for submission of paper: Friday 13th June 2008
Deadline for submission of powerpoint presentation: Monday 30th June 2008

Background
Superannuation and pension funds face similar risks to other financial institutions. They face investment risks, legal risks, operational risks, and credit and market risks, but there is very little research on the severity and frequency of these risks, and on how to best manage them. As superannuation and pension funds become very significant to the capital markets and to retirement income provision, it is important that the risks inherent in their operations are recognised, quantified, managed and monitored. This is essential to avoid potentially catastrophic impacts in economies, in just the same way and for the same reasons that the regulators have required banks to improve their risk management processes.

The 16th Australian Colloquium of Superannuation Researchers will discuss these issues and draw on the experience from other institutions where risk management is more developed, to suggest strategies for superannuation and pension funds.
