2.1 Teaching times and Locations
Lecture: Wednesday 6.00 – 7.30/9.00 pm as per class schedule (where there are tutorials or visiting speakers classes will run till 9.00 pm. Some sessions may be shorter where there is no tutorial. This will provide an opportunity for students to discuss or work on group assignment)
Venue: Goldstein GO5

2.2 Units of Credit
This course is worth 6 OC

2.3 Relationship of this course to other course offerings

This course focuses specifically on the business issues faced by professional service firms. Its principal focus will be on professional firms operating in the business to business sector - e.g. corporate law firms, management consulting firms, large accounting firms, etc. (Relatively little emphasis will be placed on small business to consumer professions such as dentists or physiotherapists.)

This course will build on knowledge gained in other Master of Commerce (Marketing) subjects and will relate this knowledge to the specific context of professional services.

2.4 Approach to learning and teaching
This course will utilise a range of learning and teaching approaches including lectures, case studies, reading material, guest speakers and video material. The experience of both students and teaching staff will be utilised to explore marketing strategy in a range of professional service settings. Active student participation and preparation to the classes will form an important element of the course.

Assignments and case studies will be used to reinforce concepts and extend knowledge.
3. COURSE AIMS AND OUTCOMES

3.1 Course Aims

Professional services represent a large and increasingly important sector of most developed economies. In some countries, the professional services sector now generates similar GDP to that of the manufacturing sector. This sector includes traditional professions such as accountancy and law; professional services provided by knowledge-oriented and information technology companies such as IBM, Accenture and Oracle; and the supply of internal professional services within organisations. The rapid growth in professional services is a response to the changed market environment, including heightened competition, changing structure of markets, the increased sophistication of customers and a knowledge-oriented economy. Recent research, such as the work on 'service-dominant logic', highlights specialised knowledge and skills as the fundamental basis of exchange relationships.

Professionals' relationships with their clients are typically long-term, participative and dedicated to providing superior service. However, the adoption of best-practice marketing has been a considerable challenge for many accounting, financial, legal and other professional service firms. Historically, many professional service firms have been able to prosper and still be poor at marketing. The objective of this course is to explore the strategic dimensions of marketing in a professional firm environment. In particular, it will focus on how key marketing concepts can be utilised in a range of diverse professional service environments.

This course aims to:

- introduce students to important aspects of professional services marketing theory and practice
- provide students with tools and framework for understanding and analysing marketing strategies in a range of professional service firm settings
- make students familiar with the principles of strategic marketing planning as they apply to the context of professional service firms
- understand the challenges in building a client-focused professional services firm

The course develops a strategic marketing perspective and will not be concerned with the detailed examination of promotional tools, marketing communication and advertising. Most of all, students will learn from this course the particular challenges of marketing in professional partnerships or in those firms that, although they have adopted corporate forms, still operate in a partnership frame of mind.

Students should note:

- In order to allow optimal opportunity for guided discussion and interaction significant student preparation is required in advance of each classroom session and you are advised to make appropriate allowance for this in your personal timetable.
- When in class, you are encouraged and expected to comment on the topic under discussion. Those students with marketing and relevant business experience are particularly encouraged to share their learning with the class. Students and/or teams may be asked to make an informal or formal presentation.
There is a case study element in the course. Learning is enhanced by attention to the case questions assigned in preparation and by participation in class.

3.2 Student Learning Outcomes

At the completion of the course, students will:

- be familiar with the principles and practice of professional services marketing
- be able to recognise how the context of professional services marketing differs from services marketing in general and traditional marketing in particular
- understand the organisational and political dimensions that are critical in successful marketing in professional service firms, and especially for those firms that operate in a partnership
- be able to identify and evaluate the marketing options confronting professional service organisations in developing marketing strategy.
- be able to develop a strategic marketing plan for a professional services business and assess a strategic marketing plan developed by others

3.3 Teaching Strategies

This course will primarily utilise a lecture /discussion approach supplemented by selected case studies. Importantly it will draw upon the experience of both students and lecturer, via classroom discussion, to provide relevance via real world examples of concepts and models.

In our lecture/discussions, I will place special emphasis on:

- learning from case studies of professional service organisations who are highly regarded in terms of their best-in-class marketing and business practices
- utilising selected articles and video material to highlight aspects of professional service firm marketing strategies

Students will form groups or learning teams for an assignment and other work that explores, and reports on, a professional service organisation, sector or issue.

4. STUDENT RESPONSIBILITIES AND CONDUCT

It is student's responsibility to study the reading assignments and/or case studies prior to class in order that you they contribute, participate intelligently and thus gain maximum value from this course.

For information on your responsibilities regarding workload, general conduct and behaviour, and keeping informed, please refer to the School of Marketing's website. http://www2.marketing.unsw.edu.au/nps/servlet/portalservice?GI_ID=System.LoggedOutInheritableArea&maxWnd=_Current_Policies

4.1 Attendance

Your regular and punctual attendance at lectures and seminars is expected in this course. University regulations indicate that if students attend less than eighty per cent of scheduled classes they may be refused final assessment.
5. Learning Assessment

5.1 Formal Requirements
In order to pass this course, you must perform satisfactorily in all assessment tasks, including:
- achieving an average mark of at least 50%; and
- gain at least 50% of the allocated marks in the final exam.

These assessments are designed to test your:
- understanding of strategic marketing concepts and approaches in professional firms
- ability to relate them to real organisational issues and problems in professional services
- written and oral presentation skills

Assessment Components:

1. Group Assignment
A feature of the Professional Services Marketing Course is a Group Assignment comprising a Professional Services Sector Report & Presentation.

Each group should consist of no more than four students.
You should indicate your preference for professional service sectors from the following list of business to business sectors:
- strategy management consulting firms
- legal services
- accounting services
- insurance broking
- architects and structural engineers
Please list your preferences of the above sectors in order from 1 to 5 and return to me by email and print by the class on Wednesday 8 August 2007 at the latest. First preferences will be given to those Groups that email me first.

I will advise you shortly after this date of the sector allocated to your Group

Registration will involve each team/group submitting
1. the list of 5 preferences, in order, and
2. the name, university email address, phone nos. and student number of each member of the group

A team/group mark will be awarded for the assignment which is worth 40 percent of your final mark so a substantial effort is expected from this assignment. Your written report should be a maximum of 2,500 – 3,000 words plus 15 - 20 accompanying slides or exhibits.

The team written assignment and accompanying slides for the class presentation are to be submitted to Adrian Payne as follows:

1. Typed version of the assignment and accompanying slides for the class presentation to be placed in the Essay Box in the School of Marketing on 3rd floor of Quadrangle Building by the due date above - Friday 26th October 2007 at 4.00 pm
2. Electronic version of assignment and slides to be emailed to Adrian Payne by the due date above - Friday 26th October 2007 at 4.00 pm.

The team presentations will take place in final session on Wednesday 31st October 2007.

The assignment task
The assignment is to undertake a thorough analysis and assessment of your designated professional service sector. This should take the form of a “consultant’s presentation” and may include the following:

1. Brief overview of Sector Globally
2. Detailed overview of Australian Sector
3. Major firms, their size (employees, billing, etc.) growth, specialization and trajectory – globally and Australian
4. Mission, Strategy and focus of operations of major firms
5. Environmental Analysis
6. Segmentation and positioning of major firms
7. Value propositions of major firms – explicit or implicit
8. Competitive advantage of major firms
9. Key Performance Indicators for major firms
10. Evaluation of marketing communications from accessible material – web, brochures, annual reports, advertising, etc. for major firms

It is suggested you focus on the top 4-6 firms within the sector

Each team will be allocated 20 minutes to make a powerpoint presentation to the class on Wednesday 31st October 2007 (see Course Overview above), followed by a general class discussion and questions. Use all your presentation skills to maximum impact. Use any visual aids you wish but remember that you are responsible for making the arrangements and setting-up times may be limited so get to the classroom in time to load your powerpoint presentation.

Each member of the team must have with them both written and electronic versions of both the report and the powerpoint presentation for the class on 31 October 2007 and be prepared to present, if necessary. This will ensure that presentations will be made by all teams in the event of sickness or non-attendance by one or more group member(s).

Please take the assignment seriously – so it is an instructive learning opportunity for all class members. Particular attention should be paid to the content, e.g. coherence of the “story”, application of marketing concepts, depth of understanding and analytical rigour. Paper copies of your presentation (6 per page) should be handed out to all members of the class at the start of your presentation. No more than 15 slides are acceptable. (This works out at approx. one per minute, so you may wish to use less.)

The following criteria will be used to evaluate the written assignment

1. Use of data (qualitative and quantitative)
2. Critical analysis
3. Creativity
4. Effective communication of findings

All assignments must be accompanied by an Assessment Cover Sheet. Copies of the assessment cover sheet are available on the School of Marketing website.

If you have any queries, please raise them with Adrian Payne well in advance of the presentation.

Note: It is your responsibility to keep written copies of your assignment(s).

2. Class participation in case discussions (10%)

Active participation is an important component of this Master of Commerce (Marketing) course. All students are expected to take the initiative to participate in class discussions. You will be assessed on your ability to discuss intelligently and contribute to class discussion of case studies, designated readings and questions from the course lecturer.

To help assess this each student is required to submit a brief 1-2 page memo to the course lecturer detailing their individual class participation in the course (i.e. the contribution to the discussion and case studies, etc. - not just being there!) on Wednesday 31st October 2007. You should therefore keep a brief class-by class log of your involvement.

Important: This participation component involves having a name card in front of you for all class sessions!!

3. Final Exam (50%)

This will either be a formal university examination, or a take home exam based on questions, topics and/or a case study. You will be given further details on this during the course.

All exams are conducted in accordance with the UNSW Rules for the Conduct of Examinations and it is the student’s responsibility to be familiar with these rules. For more information, refer to the Master of Marketing Student Information Guide or the UNSW examination website at:

MARK 5818 – Marketing Professional Services
Any review of assessment will be conducted in accordance with the School’s assessment policies that can be found on the School website.

5.3 Assignment Submission Procedure
See section 5.2 above

5.4 Late Submission
Information about late submission of assignments, including penalties, is available on the School of Marketing’s website

5.5 Special Consideration and Supplementary examinations
Details relating to procedures for special consideration and supplementary exams can be found at:
http://www2.marketing.unsw.edu.au/nps/servlet/portalservice?GI_ID=System.LoggedOutInheritableArea&maxWnd= Current_SpecialConsideration
NOTE: You only have 3 days from the due date of the assessment/exam in which to lodge a special consideration form.

5.6 Assignment Format
See section 5.2 above

6. ACADEMIC HONESTY AND PLAGIARISM
The University regards plagiarism as a form of academic misconduct, and has very strict rules regarding plagiarism. For full information regarding policies, penalties and information to help you avoid plagiarism see:
www.my.unsw.edu.au/student/atoz/Plagiarism

Plagiarism is the presentation of the thoughts or work of another as one’s own.* Examples include:
• direct duplication of the thoughts or work of another, including by copying work, or knowingly permitting it to be copied. This includes copying material, ideas or concepts from a book, article, report or other written document (whether published or unpublished), composition, artwork, design, drawing, circuitry, computer program or software, web site, Internet, other electronic resource, or another person’s assignment without appropriate acknowledgement;
• paraphrasing another person’s work with very minor changes keeping the meaning, form and/or progression of ideas of the original;
• piecing together sections of the work of others into a new whole;
• presenting an assessment item as independent work when it has been produced in whole or part in collusion with other people, for example, another student or a tutor; and,
• claiming credit for a proportion a work contributed to a group assessment item that is greater than that actually contributed.†

Submitting an assessment item that has already been submitted for academic credit elsewhere may also be considered plagiarism.
The inclusion of the thoughts or work of another with attribution appropriate to the academic discipline does not amount to plagiarism.

Students are reminded of their Rights and Responsibilities in respect of plagiarism, as set out in the University Undergraduate and Postgraduate Handbooks, and are encouraged to seek advice from academic staff whenever necessary to ensure they avoid plagiarism in all its forms.

The Learning Centre website is the central University online resource for staff and student information on plagiarism and academic honesty. It can be located at:
www.lc.unsw.edu.au/plagiarism

The Learning Centre also provides substantial educational written materials, workshops, and tutorials to aid students, for example, in:

- correct referencing practices;
- paraphrasing, summarising, essay writing, and time management;
- appropriate use of, and attribution for, a range of materials including text, images, formulae and concepts.

Individual assistance is available on request from The Learning Centre.

Students are also reminded that careful time management is an important part of study and one of the identified causes of plagiarism is poor time management. Students should allow sufficient time for research, drafting, and the proper referencing of sources in preparing all assessment items.

7. STUDENT RESOURCES

7.1 Course Resources

There is no prescribed text for the course but should you wish to own or access some texts to use as resources, then the following texts would be useful:

1. Young, Laurie, Marketing the Professional Service Firm, John Wiley and Sons, 2005

Articles, readings and case studies

These are listed in the detailed class session schedule.

Important: You will need to purchase a case pack of case studies for this course from the University Bookshop. This case pack is in place of a text book. These are currently being ordered. Details of this will be outlined in the first class session including the date these are available.
Journals
Journals are a good source of material on professional services marketing. The following are recommended:

- Journal of Professional Services Marketing (Now Services Marketing Quarterly)
- International Journal of Service Industry Management
- Journal of Services Marketing
- Service Industries Journal
- Sloan Management Review

7.2 Other Resources, Support and Information
The University and the Faculty provide a wide range of support services for students, including:

- Learning and study support;
- Counselling support;
- Library training and support services;
- Disability support services;

In addition, it is important that all students are familiar with University and Faculty policies and procedures in relation to such issues as:

- Examination procedures and advice concerning illness or misadventure;
- Supplementary Examinations;
- Occupational Health and Safety policies and expectations;

For information and links relating to the above services, please see [note School web pages where this information is presented]

8. CONTINUAL COURSE IMPROVEMENT
Each year feedback is sought from students and other stakeholders about the courses offered in the School and continual improvements are made based on this feedback.
UNSW's Course and Teaching Evaluation and Improvement (CATEI) Process (http://www.ltlt.unsw.edu.au/ref4-5-1_catei_process.cfm) is one of the ways in which student evaluative feedback is gathered. Significant changes to courses and programs within the School are communicated to subsequent cohorts of students.
